Mirror Your Movements In Mirror Maze For The Apple iPhone™ & Apple iPod touch®

A Pair Of Balls On A Mission!

Assyria Game Studio announced at the beginning of May they were putting their final touches to their new brain-bending maze game, Mirror Maze. It seems like only yesterday the developers at Assyria released "The Glowing Void", another unique game for the Apple iPhone™ and Apple iPod touch®; fans of titles from this developer are getting a very early Christmas present!

In Mirror Maze your objective is to navigate a ball through a maze from the upper-left to the lower-right of the screen. It sounds simple, and really, it would be if that was the whole story! Mirror Maze introduces not only one ball, but two balls on the screen simultaneously: Your movements are mirrored to the ghost ball making this game even trickier and if either ball hits an object, obstacle or wall, it's back to the beginning to try again! With 36 ball-breaking levels of fun that gets increasingly more complex as you progress, you'll always have something to go ballistic over. Mazes in the early levels of the game are simply an introduction and features static environments, but as you complete the early levels you are introduced to a real party: fully animated levels that come alive! Mirror Maze also has Vortex portals that will teleport either you or your ghost ball to a different part of the screen, and features AGON online leader-boards allowing you to upload your scores to compare your achievements with other players; scores that can be shared through Facebook and Twitter.
